As an investor, we are well-placed to promote best-practice in environmental, social and governance (ESG) matters on behalf of our clients.

Purpose and scope of this statement

This Statement of Compliance summarises how Aegon Investment Management (AIM) B.V. (a market participant) complies with the Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation² (or SFDR) and the Regulatory Technical Standards supplementing the Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation³ (SFDR Level 2). More specifically, it addresses the articles of that regulation that require entity-level disclosures. Other disclosure requirements of the Regulation are addressed in the prescribed documentation. For the purposes of this Statement, we refer to Aegon Asset Management as the market participants mentioned above jointly.

SFDR was created by the European Commission to support sustainable growth by regulating the promotion of sustainable financial products and reducing the so-called greenwashing. The regulation aims to set a common ground to harmonize the often-insufficient information currently disclosed by financial market participants about their responsible investment products. The regulation requires asset managers to provide specific information about their approaches to a) integrate sustainability risk and considerations of its impact on returns, b) consider adverse impacts on sustainability factors, c) ensure products that promote environmental or social characteristics or have a sustainable objective and target sustainable investments attain the promoted characteristics or sustainability objectives.

² Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 27 November 2019 on sustainability-related disclosures in the financial services sector

³ Regulation (EU) 2022/1288 of 6 April 2022 supplementing Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 of the European Parliament and of the Council with regard to regulatory technical standards specifying the details of the content and presentation of the information in relation to the principle of 'do no significant harm', specifying the content, methodologies and presentation of information in relation to sustainability indicators and adverse sustainability impacts, and the content and presentation of the information in relation to the promotion of environmental or social characteristics and sustainable investment objectives in pre-contractual documents, on websites and in periodic reports.

Transparency of sustainability risk policies

Our Responsible Investment Framework outlines the three pillars of our approach to responsible investment.

The first pillar of our approach is ESG integration, which for us means incorporating financially material ESG factors into the investment decision-making process to help ensure sustainability risks are appropriately priced and suitable for the portfolio in question, and to potentially uncover opportunities.

ESG factors are systematically integrated into our bottom-up research process for fixed income and equity issuers. We are working to expand the reach of our ESG integration practices to other asset classes. We aim to develop our own holistic house view of issuers' ESG profiles. By integrating ESG considerations with economic factors, and drawing from specialized ESG research sources, our research teams seek to identify financially material ESG factors and arrive at an independent, comprehensive view of the investment that takes sustainability risks into account.

The Framework describes our approach to ESG integration in further detail, including its potential benefits and examples of ESG factors we may consider depending on their materiality to the issuer's activities and operational practices.

Our approach to considering sustainability risks is also explained in our fund-specific policies. In the case of our Multi-Management (MM) Funds, our approach to ESG integration is further elucidated in the Aegon AM MM Sustainability Risks and Impacts Policy. For the funds that are part of the Aegon Asset Management Investment Company (Ireland) plc the Aegon AM UK Sustainable Risks and Impacts Policy applies. For all other funds, the approach is further described in the Aegon AM NL Sustainability Risks and Impacts Policy. For portfolios that we manage on behalf of a specific client through discretionary portfolio management, a specific and tailored approach may be agreed, whereby our approach to risk management as described in the Responsible Investment Framework is the starting point.

Transparency of adverse sustainability impacts at entity level

Aegon AM recognizes the potential and actual adverse impacts its investments can have on sustainability factors. To address such impacts, where relevant to the specific asset class in question, portfolios managed by the abovementioned market participants are subject to policies that require the identification, monitoring, reporting and mitigation of potential and actual adverse impacts according to certain criteria, including through exclusion or active ownership.

For the Multi-Management Funds offered by AIM B.V., the applicable policy is the Aegon AM MM Sustainability Risks and Impacts Policy. For the funds that are part of the Aegon Asset Management Investment Company (Ireland) plc the Aegon AM UK Sustainable Risks and Impacts Policy applies. For all other applicable funds, the Aegon AM NL Sustainability Risks and Impacts Policy applies. These policies describe in detail how we identify the adverse impacts of our investments on sustainability factors, as well as different mitigating actions such as exclusion or engagement. For portfolios that we manage on behalf of a specific client through discretionary portfolio management, a specific and tailored approach may be agreed, whereby our approach to adverse impacts as described in the different policies is the starting point for discussions with the specific client.

The policies identify four topics of focus for identification of adverse impacts: climate change, inclusion & diversity, biodiversity and human rights.

Under each topic, the policy outlines the Principal Adverse Impact indicators used to monitor portfolio holdings for potential and actual adverse impacts, and to identify companies for engagement and voting based on their impact on these sustainability topics. Exclusion criteria are also clearly outlined, as well as our process for ensuring good governance. The topics and exclusion criteria described were developed with reference to several responsible business codes and international standards.

Exclusion is considered appropriate for investments with the highest potential adverse impacts, as well as in cases where engagement and voting targeted at mitigating adverse impacts or ensuring good governance have been unsuccessful.

Excluded issuers are clearly outlined in these three policies. In addition, Aegon AM annually publishes information on other actions taken in relation to adverse impacts, namely engagement and voting, in the Aegon AM

Responsible Investment Report as well as in regular voting reports on our website.

Our overall approach to engagement and voting is described in detail in the Aegon AM Active Ownership Policy. That policy is aimed at enhancing long-term value creation by our investee companies, ensuring good governance and consequently seeking to improve the long-term risk-adjusted returns of our clients' portfolios. We actively seek to work with relevant stakeholders and the companies in which we invest to address complex ESG challenges that are in line with the interests of our clients. As such the Active Ownership Policy acts as a basis for all active ownership activities of Aegon AM globally, focusing on how we engage with investees to address sustainability risks, adverse impacts and good governance.

Transparency of remuneration policies in relation to the integration of sustainability risks

Aligning sustainability risks to remuneration policies is an important component with Aegon AM compensation programs. Aegon AM's global remuneration policy incorporates our global focus on integrating critical sustainability factors into multiple components of the variable compensation structure.

Performance indicators are a foundational component of Aegon AM's variable compensation program. To achieve an accurate reflection of the overall performance from a long-term sustainability perspective, the remuneration policies provide for a balance of financial and non-financial performance indicators at the organizational and individual level.

At an organizational level, this focus on sustainability is reflected by indicators incorporating long-term sustainability of business results including one, three and five-year investment performance, client satisfaction, and teamwork.

Individual objectives ensure that all associates have a direct line-of-sight to how they contribute to Aegon AM's strategy and sustainability goals. For illustrative purposes, these indicators currently include components such as:

- All colleagues have performance and development objectives which are relevant to their role and contribution towards Aegon AM's strategy, including an ESG objective relevant to their role.
- Investment professional objectives include ensuring ESG factors are considered relative to the risk and return objectives of each fund while adhering to client fiduciary responsibilities.
- Executive leadership have individual objectives in respect of their involvement in Inclusion and Diversity initiatives and improving gender diversity within the organization.

Our remuneration policy also outlines the inclusion of management assessments which are aimed at the risk alignment and sustainability of business performance. Such assessments may result in a downward adjustment of any variable compensation grant, allocation, payout or vesting. The assessments specifically include both Malus and Clawback provisions which are described within the remuneration policy.

Transparency of the promotion of environmental or social characteristics and of sustainable investments in financial products

The policies we have in place are binding for all the funds to which the policies are applied. In this way, we consistently promote ESG characteristics in these funds through the implementation of comprehensive responsible investment policies. The methods by which ESG is promoted (engagement, voting, exclusion) are relevant to each asset class to different degrees. Therefore, we have classified our funds as Article 6 (integrating sustainability risks but not promoting ESG characteristics or having a sustainable investment objectives), Article 8 (additionally promoting ESG characteristics), and Article 9 (additionally targeting a sustainable investment objective) depending on how applicable and relevant the policies and its pillars are for each specific fund. Clients can find the classification of each AAM fund in Appendix 1.

We have modified the legal product documentation to disclose and reflect the classification of each fund. For funds classified as Responsible Investment solutions (and therefore disclosing under article 8 or 9 SFDR) under the Aegon AM Responsible Investment Framework, additional information about how the ESG characteristics are promoted is included.

Statement on principal adverse impacts of investment advice on sustainability factors

In specific and very limited circumstances, AIM will provide investment advice to clients. Where such investment advice is related to the rebalancing of a client portfolio, AIM will consider the principal adverse impacts in line with the portfolio management service as agreed between the client and AIM. This may include ranking and selecting financial products based on the principal adverse indicators and applying criteria or thresholds to these principal adverse impacts, depending on the specific client's sustainability preferences.

In specific and very limited circumstances, AIM may provide one off financial advice to a client related to a specific transaction. In such cases and depending on the client's desire and the availability of data concerning the investment, AIM may consider the principal adverse impact of the investment. Given the variance client's preference, as well as the differences in underlying investments and the consequences this has for the availability of data, AIM cannot provide a general answer to what extent principal adverse impacts are considered, and to what extent a ranking, criteria or thresholds are applied. This is to be determined in close cooperation with the client.
